RAILROAD MAY BE ELECTRICIFIED AND EXTENDED

Proposed Electric Plant at Brooksville Would Furnish Power To Neighbors.

The Brooksville Review says: "Mr. Barrett Water of Cincinnati spent several days here the past week in the interest of installing a new power plant with three oil burning engines and two generators, which will furnish us with a twenty-four hour current, at a much cheaper rate than we are now getting.

"It is unofficially rumored that the Brooksville & Ohio River Railroad Co., operating between this place and the C. & O. at Wellsburg will electrify its equipment and probably extend its line, the two objective points being given at Mt. Olivet or Cynthiana.

"While we do not vouch for the report of this great ydesired improvement, we can readily see where it may be a stern realization in the future."

MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED VERY QUIETLY MONDAY

Daughters of the American Revolution and American Legion Will Decorate Graves—Short Services at Three Cemeteries.

Memorial Day will be quietly celebrated in Maysville this year. So far as is known at this time, two local organizations will take part in honoring the heroes of the past wars on Monday and three different cemeteries will be visited during the day.

The Maysville Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has planned the first Memorial Day celebration that has been held in the old cemetery in the rear of the Washington Opera House for probably more than a half century. In this old grave yard, which has been grossly neglected for many years, lie buried many veterans of the War of Freedom and at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the members of this organization and their friends will gather at the old grave yard where very appropriate services will be held. The chief address will be made by Hon. James N. Kehoo. Mrs. Clarence L. Wood will give an appropriate reading and the devotional services will be in charge of Dr. John Barbour, of the Presbyterian church. The graves of the Revolutionary War veterans will be decorated.

Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion will hold a short service in the Maysville cemetery. The officers of the Post are not able to announce the name of their speaker at this time but an interesting address will be delivered. The graves of the World War Veterans will be decorated with the official wreath of the American Legion. A company of American Legion members will also visit St. Patrick's cemetery at Washington where the graves of comrades buried there will also be adorned with the official wreath.

The local post Grand Army of the Republic has long since surrendered its charter but the friends and relatives of the brave Civil War heroes will not forget these veterans and their graves will be appropriately decorated during the day at all cemeteries. The heroes of the Spanish-American War will also be remembered and their relatives and friends will see that their graves are properly decorated. All cemeteries in and about Maysville will present beautiful sights on Monday and it is expected that all these cemeteries will be crowded during the day.

HORSESHOE BAND WINS HEARTS OF THE PEOPLE.

The first public concert of the Horseshoe Band was given Friday evening at the band stand in Market street and one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a band concert was on hand to "root" for the "little" band. Their program was delightful and the Cardinal band will have to get up and go some if they are not caught by this new band within a very short time. The volume of the Horseshoe band is a feature and they play with great ease.

MR. MARTIN RAMSEY DEAD.

It has just become known here that Mr. Martin Luther Ramsey, a native of Maysville, died at his home at Williamsburg, Ohio, this week. Mr. Ramsey was born in 1844. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted for the first time when only 17 years of age. He was with General Sherman on his march to the sea and was wounded at Port McAllister. He is survived by his wife and six children. Burial was made at Williamsburg.

LAWRENCEBURG WHISKY WAREHOUSE IS ROBBED

Thirty Thousand Dollars Worth of Liquor Is Stolen at Lawrenceburg.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., May 28. — Fifteen armed bandits early today raided the T. H. Bond & Bro. distillery, four miles from this city, and carried away a truck load of whisky. They are thought to have been a part of the same gang of bandits who on the night of May 6 raided the Dowling distillery near here and trucked away 138 cases of whisky, as the truck used in the raid last night was the one which these bandits had abandoned.

The raiders obtained, according to reports here, between twelve and thirty barrels of whisky belonging to Diehl & Co. of Cincinnati, which was stored in the warehouse. The whisky would have a retail value of between $12,000 and $30,000.

The men last night repaired the truck, which had been damaged, and took it to the Bond plant, and after overcoming and blinding the guards, Delbert Carlisle and Alfred Byrnes, loaded it with whisky and drove back toward Lawrenceburg. The men cut out all telephone wires in the neighborhood and also cut out the wiring on the motor cars of the two guards to prevent pursuit.

LOUISVILLE DOCTOR FIGURES IN LIQUOR AND BOND DEAL

Physician Is Alleged to Be Implicated Embezzle Liquor Theft and Versailles Bond Deal.

Louisville, Ky., May 28. — Mystery surrounding the theft from the mails of securities, valued at approximately $18,000, after they had been forwarded at Versailles the night of February 21, remained unsolved after the arraignment yesterday of Dr. Clifford S. Goodman on a charge of having some of the stolen securities in his possession. But a mysterious whisky transaction has been revealed through the arrests.

Dr. Goodman pleaded not guilty and was released on a $2,500 bond. David T. Nichol, superintendent of the Embezzle Distillery, was released on a similar bond Thursday, after having been jointly accused with the physician.

Federal officials yesterday admitted that the physician had told them that an alleged debt which Nichol paid with the bonds, was for a whisky transaction in which the physician acted as go-between for a Louisville bootlegger. The physician told postal inspectors on his first visit to their office here, they said, that he had received the bonds from a man named "Barringer, Tulsa, Okla.," who gave them to him for an oil lease which the physician had purchased for $275.

Mr. Nichol yesterday denied any complicity in a whisky deal. However, after Dr. Goodman was first examined by postal inspectors, he amended his first story and told of the whisky transaction between Nichol and a Louisville bootlegger. It was then that Dr. Goodman received the bonds as a commission, the Federal authorities said.

The pictures that were taken Friday of the Cardinal Band of Maysville Boys' Band are fine and it won't be long until Kentucky and Ohio's papers will be printing cuts of same and the screen in moving picture houses will be showing same to the public.

There will be no practice of the Cardinal Maysville Boys Band Monday night. Horseshoe Band of Maysville Boys' Band will meet Tuesday night at band room for their regular practice.

Saturday morning Manager Russell had Mr. Ed Smith installing ceiling electric fans in the band room so that the children can keep cool during practice this summer.

It sure is a peach, that picture of the Saxophone Quintet of Cardinal Maysville Boys' Band. Manager Russell will have cuts made to run same in the catalogue of the fairs this season.

He states that on several occasions he endeavored to effect an adjustment of affairs but failed.

SAPIRO WILL COME TO MAYSVILLE TO ADDRESS GROWERS

Author of Proposed Co-Operative Tobacco Marketing Plan Will Visit Maysville During June to Explain System Proposed.

It became known here Saturday afternoon that Aaron Sapiro, California co-operative expert, who is the author of the proposed Burley tobacco co-operative marketing system, will visit Maysville during June to explain the plan to farmers of this county.

An effort was made to have Mr. Sapiro, who is now making a trip over Kentucky explaining the system, address the bankers of Groups Six and Nine of the Kentucky Bankers' Association which meet in Beechwood Park on June 8th but he will be unable to reach Maysville by that time but will come later in the month.

Many local tobacco men heard Mr. Sapiro's address in Lexington a few days ago and have returned home much enthused over his system. Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, is putting much into the present campaign which he thinks is the solution of the Burley Tobacco Growers' problems as it has been of the fruit growers of California.

OUR POLICY:

YALE STUDENTS CAUGHT CHEATING MUST GET OUT; HONOR SYSTEM VINDICATED.

It is to the credit of the student body of Yale that little sympathy is extended toward expelled classmen who "cribbed" on their examination. These students are plain, ordinary cheats—dishonest and without excuse. Thirteen others have been suspended for failing to inform on the offenders. The thirteen are scarcely less culpable than the eight who undertook to obtain credit marking under false pretense.

The traditional prejudice against "snitchers" cannot be cited in this case. In the first place the "honor system" has been in vogue for five years at Yale, and this honor system imposes specific duties upon the students themselves. Besides, in an earlier day, the refusal of undergraduates to "inform" did not apply to matters involving turpitude and immorality.

College pranks, due to an excess of animal spirits, so long as they do not imply viciousness or lack of principle, are forgivable; and pupils who refuse to report such lapses to the faculty are quite easily understood. But sympathy for "cribbers" and "cheats" is something unusual, if not new, in college life.

It is gratifying to know that punishment in the cases cited is the followed recommendations by the student discipline committee.—New York Telegraph.

KEERFUL, CHARLIE.

Charlie Chaplin scowled his pants recently with an acetylene torch. Charlie was reported some months ago as flirting with bolshevism. He should take care in monkeying with bombs.

Secretary Mellon is the member of the cabinet against whom most of the Democratic criticism was aimed at the time of his appointment, and he now seems to be getting more commendation than almost any other member of the President's official family. Apparently the less you please the Democratic press, the better pleased is the country.

LET'S GO AHEAD, BUSINESS SLOGAN

Schwab's Faith in Future Shown By $25,000,000 Expenditure on Extension of Big Steel and Ship Plant.

The announcement last week by Mr. Charles M. Schwab that the Bethlehem Company would spend $25,000,000 on the enlargement of its steel and ship-building plant at Baltimore shows that he not only talks optimistically, but that he acts accordingly.

We would rather take Mr. Schwab's view on the business outlook in Europe and America than that of any dozen international bankers here and abroad. Mr. Schwab is practicing what he has been preaching. He has shown that he is backing his words with his works, and if every other business man would cease to see only the hold in the diamond ring and not the precious stone on the outside, we would soon see a marked betterment in all business conditions.

Confidence, faith, courage and go-ahead-iveness are now the prime requisites for a revival of business. The restrictions on credit are being loosened, discount rates are being reduced; bankers are being told to go ahead, and the whole power of the administration is being concentrated upon business development in contrast to the socialistic trend of eight years, which broke down our railroads, destroyed their prosperity, burdened the railroads and the nation alike with that unspeakably cowardly, vicious Adamson bill—the most outrageous surrender of manhood this nation ever made.

We are new in an upbuilding period, and the time has come for men who have faith in America to go ahead and to the extent of their ability, follow the example of Mr. Schwab. Those who believe that America is headed down hill to ruin and destruction are justified in doing nothing except to bewail their ill fortune; all others should be up and doing, with faith in their country, faith in themselves and faith in an overruling Providence, which has made America the wonderland of all the ages. With resources and natural advantages unmatched by any other equal area on earth, with one-half of the coal and iron and steel output of the world, with nearly half the world's railroad mileage and two-thirds of the world's cotton and more than one-third of the world's accumulated wealth and one-third of the world's gold supply, and greater than all else the largest, broadest liberty ever known to man, who can question our speedy recovery from every business ill? He who has the courage and energy and vision to work as never before will win. "He who doubts is damned."

New York Letter

New York. — Westward ho! once again. The emigrant train of the twentieth century will leave New York in two months. It's the first to start for the "great, wide west" in this generation, and in spite of the fact that the caravan will be made up of 128 motor cars, it is after all pretty much the same thing as the trains of prairie schooners which crept across the continent half a century ago.

It was a gala day at the Metropolitan Opera House the other day when Enrico Caruso surprised the house staff by dropping in for a call, the first time he has been able to step into his beloved opera house since he was first taken ill. Very few artists were about, most of them having returned to Europe for the summer, but those there hastily organized a neobustle reception committee and were valuable in their delight at the return to health of the master singer.

The American National Council has been organized to coordinate the Americanization activities of more than a score of nationally known patriotic and civic educational societies. The first meeting was held the other day when Dr. David Jayno Hill was elected president, and Charles D. Orb, of the National Security League, Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion; and Albert E. Shields, director of the Inter-Racial Council, were named vice-presidents. Over twenty societies are represented in the new Council. One of the features of the work will concern the efforts of the public school toward better citizenship and Americanization.

There is no use. We may as well admit the complete wrongness of all the cartoonists and the funny story people, who would imply that the visitor from the village is the one who is banished in New York City. We've had a few rather embarrassing instances of our own native-born Manhattanites buying gold bricks of various descriptions these past few months; and now comes another grievous discovery. The men who sell a $2 wrist watch for 35 cents, those who offer the public an unexcelled fountain pen for 60 cents, and all the rest of such philanthropists rarely try to sell their wares in the parts of the city where out-of-towners are gathered. "You can't sell a rube nothin' these days," said one of the tribe the other day. "They're too cautious or too wise. The best place for our business is where the hard-boiled native New Yorker works; down in the business districts. We can sell almost anything to office boys, stenographers and business men." So once more tradition is punctured.

The head stenographer in a big office downtown is a convert from the teaching ranks. An old teaching habit seems to stick. Recently it was proven that they aren't always efficient when transferred to scenes of other activities. One of the girls in her office was humming at her work. The ex-teacher didn't approve of such informality in working manners. But the request to desist was either ignored or forgotten. Then the teaching method came to the fore. "Now," she said pleasantly, "since you seem to enjoy singing so much, perhaps you'd like to stand up and sing to all of us." (Doesn't that bring back school to you all?) But was the humming girl overcome with blushea? Not so you could notice it. Rising calmly to her feet she proceeded to cutefaint the twenty workers present with a foeling and dramatic rendition of "Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl."

ON THE FARM IN KENTUCKY

Hogs Suffer Unless Provided Shade.
In view of the fact that hogs are non-sweating animals they suffer greatly from the heat during the summer months unless given some protection in the form of shade or water for wallowing purposes according to animal husbandrymen. Concrete wallowing tanks are satisfactory for keeping the animals cool but where it is impossible to have these shade has been found to be the most practical form of relief.

If there are no trees in the pasture field to afford the necessary relief from the heat of the sun a good shelter may be constructed by setting some short posts in the ground covering enough space so that all the hogs can get under without crowding. Some two by four-inch or other light lumber may be nailed to the top of these posts and then covered with light boards to form a roof. The boards must be nailed down to prevent their being blown off by the wind. If the owner wished the building for a permanent shade rafters can be set up and the structure made more complete.

A shed-roof type of building fourteen feet long and five and one-half feet high in front sloping down to three and one-half feet high in the back has given satisfactory results at the College of Agriculture farm, according to Prof. E. J. Wilford. No sides are put on the building as a free circulation of air is desirable.

Where concrete wallowing tanks are used for keeping hogs cool a small amount of oil should be placed in the water to prevent contamination and to assist in keeping the animals free from lice.

Club Members are Told
How to Raise Soy Beans.
Complete instructions for boys' and girls' club members on the growing of soybeans as a club project are contained in Circular No. 94 which has just come off the press at the College of Agriculture. Complete details concerning the crop from the time of inoculation to harvest are given in the publication. It also contains information relative to the keeping of a club record book on the soybean project. The circular may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

Well-Prepared Seed Bed
Gives Bigger Crop Yields.
Big crops are not conducive to big crop yields, according to specialists on soils, who declare that practically every soil will respond to careful preparation of the seed bed before planting. A seed bed well-prepared is a crop half-titled even before the planting is made, they state.

Discing before plowing has been found to be one of the best means of mixing the soil to fill all air spaces, to prevent the loss of moisture and to establish capillary connection with the soil below, according to R. E. Stephenson, crops extension specialist from the College of Agriculture. Disking in manure and crop residues into the surface soil has been found to be especially desirable. Unless this method of seed bed preparation is practiced organic matter plowed under may never become mixed with the soil and the moisture supply from the subsoil will be cut off.

In spite of the fact that the recommendations made are important a great many defects of plowing may be remedied by thorough disking and pulverization of the soil after the plowing is completed. Soil cannot be over-worked except when wet. Careful preparation is even more important on poor soils, since these are more inclined to become lumpy and allow the moisture to escape.

The surface soil which the plow turns under and which later feeds the roots of the plant is more fertile than the sub-surface soil but since roots cannot enter clods much of this fertility will be lost unless the seed bed is carefully prepared. On many fields as much as one-fourth to one-half of the fertility is locked up in useless clods on the surface. To pulverize all the soil and reduce it to small particles means feeding the crop from all the fertility in the surface soil instead of from only a part of it. If careful preparation of the bed cannot be made before seeding it should be done immediately after.

Early Tillage Will Save Soil Moisture.
Earl tillage has been found to be the most effective means of storing and saving the moisture in early spring rains to bridge over the droughts which come later in the summer, according to members of the Soils and Crops Department of the College of Agriculture. This method of tillage is more satisfactory than that which is practiced after the drought has arrived.

In order to thoroughly mix and mulch the surface tillage should be started immediately after plowing. A mulch which is obtained at that time has been found to be more important for saving moisture than one which is obtained after a large growth has been established since most of the moisture is taken up by the plants before there is time for evaporation after the crop has become large enough to send its roots through the soil. The same tillage which produces the mulch will also start germination of weed seeds making it possible to kill most of the weeds by continued cultivation.

The importance of saving soil moisture is shown by the fact that 200 to 500 pounds of water are required to produce a pound of dry matter in the form of a crop. Weeds use as much water and also as much plant food as a useful crop in making a similar growth and for this reason it is important that they be controlled.

Junior Farmers Told
How to Grow Alfalfa.
Alfalfa thrives anywhere in Kentucky if given proper treatment, according to Circular No. 93, which is ready for distribution at the College of Agriculture and which is ready for distribution at the College of Agriculture and which is intended to serve as a guide to junior agricultural club members growing the crop as their club project. It contains complete details relative to sowing, harvesting and care of the crop in addition to other information of interest to club members. The publication may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

MAKING RELIGIOUS EDUCATION POPULAR.
The International Sunday School Association is a great interdenominational Sunday school organization which, with its constituent bodies, constitutes the largest organization for the promotion of Christian work that exists outside the denominations themselves.

The association accomplishes its work through a system of auxiliary Sunday school associations consisting of 65 state and provincial associations, and approximately 10,000 district and township associations. A volunteer army of nearly 300,000 men and women serve as officers of these several thousand organizations. This vast machine serves more than 175,000 Sunday schools in the country, by bringing to them the most improved plans and methods of work, and thus seeks to bring all Sunday schools up to the highest possible level of efficiency. Thus through the thousands of conventions, institutes, training conferences, special campaigns and the personal contact with local schools through the county and district association officers and leaders, every Sunday school in the land is benefited by this vast system of organization that links up the local school with the district, the district with county, the county with state and the state with the international association which is the great driving force back of the whole machine. Practically every type of work that is found in the average Sunday school has been put to continent-wide usage through the efficiency of this organization.

The International Sunday School Association—a discovering and producing organization whose function it is to pass on to the Sunday schools of the country the very best, and approved methods of Sunday school work. To do this effectively it maintains its great system of state, county, city and district associations. There is the minimum of delay and inefficiency in the functioning of this great machine. Within an amazingly short time after the release of new plans from the International headquarters, the message has worked its way down the line until it reaches practically every Sunday school in the country, from the largest city school to the remotest little Sunday school in the coal towns of Pennsylvania or the back hills of the Ozarks in Missouri.

Take for example the plans for the national mother and daughter celebration, which was observed in all parts of the country. A suggested program for this celebration was sent to the state associations which in turn sent out printed programs by the thousands to the county associations. The county machine brought their district units into play, schools were visited in the interest of the event, plans were presented and explained in hundreds of conventions and institutes. Special committees were named to head the celebration, with the result that thousands of Sunday schools throughout the land observed what has proved to be one of the most profitable of the special days of the Sunday school. The mothers are brought into the Sunday school, older girls are brought back again, after having drifted away and untold good will come from this effort that had its origin in the international association.

It is to increase the effectiveness of this type of work that the International Sunday School Association and the Sunday School Council of Evangelical Denominations are uniting their forces to make possible a national program of religious education. The campaign for $150,000 is to help inaugurate this new movement.

SEES DISASTER IN BIG TOBACCO CROP.
Danville, Va. — The enormous over-production by the tobacco farmers in the Bright belt is accentuated in the annual report on local market conditions made by W. Crews Wooding, president of the Danville Tobacco Association. In a final plea to the tobacco growers to materially reduce their acreage this year, he points out that the normal crop of bright tobacco is approximately 350,000,000 pounds and that this quantity has been found sufficient for the trade's demands. The 1920 crop reached 675,000,000 pounds, making a surplus of 325,000,000 pounds, he stated. Unless the 1921 crop is cut very materially, Wooding declares, the next season will be disastrous.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
MAY 29, 1921.

Topic: Making the Neighborhood Christian. Deut 16:18-20; Mark 12:28-31; Romans 13:8-10.

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

The first step towards making a good community is to make the people good. What are good people? They are the people who are like Jesus Christ. He was pure in heart, unselfish, filled with love for others, ready to make any sacrifice, even that of his life for the good of others. When you have brought an individual to this state or standard, you are prepared for community activities. People in this state of mind are easily organized and led to do all sorts of good things for the general good. This was Jesus' way of reforming society. I am sorry to see that the present idea of reforming society is to neglect the great primary and fundamental work of reforming the individual through the only successful method ever tried which is through the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

There is no other name given under heaven and among men whereby we

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.
Come to Hundreds of Maysville People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, languor, back-ache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney ills.

Endorsed in Maysville by grateful friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. J. W. Ishmael, 225 East Fifth street, Maysville, says: "I had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for many years. I think I inherited it as my mother died of dropsy. My kidneys were in a weak condition and at times they acted too often. My back ached terribly and it broke my rest at night as the misery was still there. I had dizzy spells and could see dashes before my eyes and everything turned black before me. A friend told me about using Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit so I sent to Swift's Drug Store and got two boxes. After using them I got better and have felt like a different woman ever since. I can't recommend Doan's too highly."

may be saved—for selfishness, which is the great obstacle to all community effort.

A Chinaman may begin at the top to build his house, but an American cannot do this. He must begin with the foundation. So to reform a community we must begin with the individual and bring him to the fountain of cleansing which is the atoning blood of the Lord Jesus Christ which alone can purify the heart. All other plans will fail to bring that relief to a community so much desired, so much discussed, so much urged. The church of God has failed to go forward with community reformation when this first all-important step has been taken. The leaders have stopped before reaching the goal they have so much desired—the reformation of the community, and the result has been decadence of the spirit of the church. This state of heart purity can be maintained only by concerted activity. These saved, cleansed, purified people should be taught that their work has just begun. The evils of society should be held up to them, explained, analyzed, the results of these evils shown and remedies proposed and discussed, plans of action formulated and work begun in earnest, and the slogan "Eternal vigilance" adopted.

In military affairs men are first prepared for war by thorough drilling, then organized into an army, then action. The idea prevalent in the mind of the public seems to be that if you can persuade people to do good works it will make them good. It is a good way to turn people's thoughts toward the good, and to teach the beauty and value of the good. It is also a good way to get them into the habit of doing good deeds. But we may "give all our goods to feed the poor" and then not be good. Rom. 13-1. Making people good is the main thing. We are not condemning community work but are endeavoring to point out the mistakes that are so liable to attend it. In the matter of making the community morally better. Perhaps one of the best illustrations of the value of cooperation—another name for community work—is the Woman's Clubs of today. They are accomplishing really great things.

Our space will not allow us to call attention to the evils that result from much of the community work which is designed altogether for good. Suffice it to say that community work for the salvation of souls can be carried on only by people who are truly saved, as the Bible teaches; and so have the mind of Christ.

SILAS SHELBURNE, VETERAN TOBACCO MERCHANT, DIES.

Lexington, Ky., May 28. — Silas Shelburne, pioneer tobacco man of Kentucky and Virginia and one of the founders of the Lexington loose leaf tobacco market, died suddenly here Friday. Death was due to apoplexy.

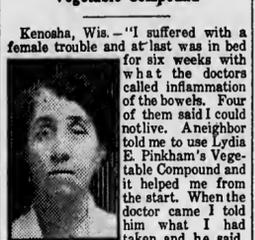

Mr. Shelburne, who was 75 years old, and one of the few remaining survivors of Stonewall Jackson's command in the Confederate army, was taken ill at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning while sitting in a chair at the Shelburne tobacco warehouse. He called to a man who was passing by and asked for assistance. The man aided him to the home of Luther Stivers, where Mr. Shelburne made his home. He died at 9 o'clock.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

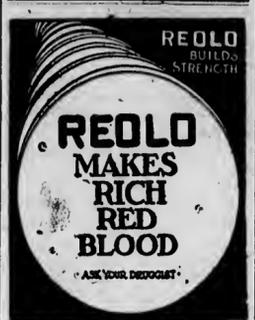

Kenosha, Wis. — "I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with what the doctors called inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said, 'Throw my medicine away and keep on with the Pinkham medicine.' I did and it cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer so. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied." — Mrs. MARY RHAPSTOCK, 270 1/2 Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displaced, back-ache, headache, bearing-down, pains, nervousness or the "blues" she should treat the cause of such conditions by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for woman's ills.
